The attendance at Sheepshead Bay track fell off yesterday to a trifle more than two thousand persons. As Monday is always an off day and as the Futurity was run on Saturday this shrinkage in the turnstile count was expected. Then too, many regulars were away on Big Tim Sullivan's outing, while the strict rules against betting

Hildreth Lady Bedford, by Ogden-Matanza, who won the Autumn Maiden Stakes yesterday in a breezing gallop. She had a world of speed and fairly romped home under a hard pull. The excellence of Madden's breeding industry was further shown when Lawton Wiggins and Court Lady, both products of Hamburg Place, ran first and third respectively in the second event. The Autumn Maiden, which was worth about $1,100 to the winner, was run in 1893 for the first time, with these winners; Economist, The Sage, Silver Jl. Sunny Stope Lady Marian, Duke of Middleburgh, Elfin Conig, King Lief, Arsenal, Parisienne, Ormonde's Right, Woodsaw, Blair Athol, Electioneer and Lawrence P. Daley.

a length in a spectacular drive. Brother Jonathan gave seven pounds to Moquette and received one pound from Master Robert. He ran the distance in 2:00 3-5, the record for the track and race being 1:59, hung up last year by Beacon Light. Mr. Keene's Gretna Green was an added starter and pulled up lame. Just what was the reason for the poor showing of Angelus upbody could explain. He was said to be in perfect trim, but when it came to racing he was never a factor. Previous winners of the Turf were Mollie McCarthy's Last, Little Jim, St. Luke, Philosophy, Carroll, Gloaming, Versatile, Illume, Bathampton, Halfling, Deerslayer, Ben Holladay, Imp. Among turfmen yesterday Sam Langford was a pronounced favorite over Joe Jeannette for their six round battle, which takes place at the National Athletic Club in East Twenty-fourth street to-night Some wagers were made that Langford would score a knockout.

It was reported yesterday that as soon as things are favorable an attempt will be made to get through the Illinois Legis-lature a racing bill patterned after the Percy-Gray law which will permit the sport to be revived at the Chicago tracks. Several Western horsemen who say they are in the know have been talking confidently about the proposed measure for several days past. Mr. Keene's two-year-olds Hilarious and Selectman worked seven furiongs between races yesterday in 1:29. Both are eligible for the Flatbush Stakes, to be run on Saturday.

J. B. Hoy claimed Ragman out of the second race. During the Brighton meet-ing Ragman, then owned by Hoy, was claimed by W. S. House. Ragman was Miss Prig. 110 Krikins. claimed by w. s. House. Ragman was secured by him yesterday for $1,350, about the same sum which House paid for him.

On recent performances Nimbus looked like a dead sure winner of the first race. If there had been any public betting he would have been an odds on favorite. When with Peter Quince and Brookdale

E. Dugan, who has been in remarkably poor form for several weeks, took a new lease on life by riding three winners and two seconds. He had not handled a winner, excepting Bar None on Saturday, since a week ago yesterday. He handled six winners in twelve days at Empire City Notter rode two winners and a second yesterday. Jockey Shreve was suspended for the rest of the meeting because of disorderly conduct at the post on Court Lady in the second event. Floreal, who ran second in that race, is a filly by Alloway—

When Sea Wolf ran a mile and a sixteenth in 1:48 5-5 in the last race he beat George G. Hall's track record by 1 2-5 seconds. Dugan's finish on Sea Wolf was like old times.

The New Yorks yesterday were beaten The New Yorks yesterday were beaten in two games in one day for the second time in succession. The Athletics shut them out in the first game and held them to one run in the second. The race continues to get harder for the Detroits. The Clevelands downed the leaders again, and the St. Louis Browns made a distinct gain by whitewashing the White Box. Rube Waddell was too much for the puissant Walsh. The Washingtons tackled the Bostons and fell down hard. The results:

Whatever else may be said of the Highwhatever else may be said of the High-landers, no team can come along and shut them out twice in one day. The Athletics beat them twice yesterday, but the New Yorks made one run in the second game. Our boys are right on their toes to prevent two shutouts. They're, the champion run getters. They have made a total of run getters. They have made a total of five runs in the last six games.

Yesterday there was good pitching in both games for New York, but feeble inside work, and it was being helpless when there were chances to send men home that laid the New Yorks low in both games. There was good pitching on the Philadelphia side too. Dygert's saliva soaked curving being very efficacious in the first game and fanning nine batters. Connie Mack took advantage of the soft spot to try out some youngsters. He had Barry, the collegian, at second base in both contests, with Manush at third in the first and Barr at that post in the second.

Manush showed up better with the stick. Manush showed up better with the stick than Barr, the latter being the more sprightly fielder.

be asked of a pitcher in the first game, but he can't pitch and field and do all the hitting too. At that he made a triple and a single, but there was nobody to bat him around. He and Chase did most of the hitting, though Moriarty made a well mesh double which went to waste along with other New York bingles. Laporte's deportment at second base was very fine. Mollveen walked in the first inning, took third when Chase singled on a hit and run play and then was thrown out at the plate on Hemphill's bounce to Dygert. Mollveen got a poor start when the ball was hit else he would have scored, for Dygert had to go several yards to get hold of the ball. Nicholis hit a curving fly to the left in the third and Conroy crossed the ball's orbit instead of, running out with it. He lost so much ground by his circuitous course that Nicholis reached third. He came in from there on a wild pitch. He came in from there hagger to left, but Murphy smothered the drive. A jumping stop by Lake and good throwing by Kleinow blanked the Athletics in the seventh, so that a base on balls followed by a two bagger went for naught. The ninth inning had all the home rooters fit for the asylum. Moriarty pierced Manush's guard for a two bagger and Ball hit to Manush, who threw to second too late to prevent Moriarty getting back in safety. There was nobody out. Davis played in close for a bunt and Kleinow butted straight to him. Davis's throw across to Manush forced Moriarty. Lake gave the ball a hard punch, but Dygert checked it just enough to allow Nicholls to scoop it and throw to Barry for a force out. The Athletics simply were outguessing the New Yorks and Hartsel was in the right spot to snake in Conroy's long lam to left.
